The trial of Gus Rheil, for the murder of David Tate, at this place last Summer, commenced to-day at Franklin.

The evening train down the creek did not arrive till after twelve last night, on account of several freight cars being off the track at Corry.

FIFTY BARRELS.—F. A. Conkle, struck a fifty barrel well on the Charlie Hunt lease, Cherrytree, on Saturday evening. It is claimed to be a good fifty barrel well.

The well owned by Capt. Hanson on the Graff Hanson tract, Cottage Hill, Oil City, which was struck about three weeks ago, and which flowed for a few days, has since been drilled deeper and is now pumping sixty to seventy-five barrels daily.

PAT DONIGAN, AGAIN.—Yesterday, Sunday, Pat Donigan and his wife had another of their bloody fights. Both man and wife were badly cut and bruised about the head. The police finally interfered, and Pat was lodged in the lock up for the night, with a bad gash in the side of his head.

Frederick Mehl, a well known citizen of Erie, while duck shooting with two friends, Thanksgiving Day, was capsized. Mehl and one of his friends swam ashore, but was so chilled by exposure as to be scarcely able to walk, and Mehl died before reaching a place of refuge. The man who clung to the boat was rescued.

Oil matters at Red Hot, near Shamburg, are becoming quite lively. Since the striking of the Winsor & Welsh well, upwards of eighty new derricks have been put up in the vicinity, several of which will now be completed, in consequence of which a large increase of production is looked for. A large number of new buildings are being put down at that point, and Red Hot bids fair as its name indicates, to become decidedly red hot, both as regards the oil business and other branches of trade.

The investigation of the Wall street gold conspiracy by the Grand Jury has been concluded, and will in all probability end in smoke. The evidence has been contradictory. The Grand Jurors have patiently heard it all, and now that the testimony is all in, they have drawn up a report and indicted nobody. Neither Corbin nor Fisk ever appeared before them, and unkind rumors has it that only those friendly to the clique were examined. They will submit their report to Judge Ingraham next Monday.

This morning our citizens, at this end of town, were startled by a tremendous report. Every one seemed convinced that a heavy explosion had taken place. It was ascertained, however, that the report came from the machine shop of Fisher, Norris & Co. It was caused by a belt becoming detached, and the pipe that furnishes air for the furnaces filling with gas from one of the open fires, thereby causing an explosion which did no other damage than to frighten some of the hands in the shop, and the families living in the neighborhood.

Stewart's Dry Goods Palace.

The ground upon which the magnificent dry goods palace, between Ninth and Tenth streets, has been built is a part of the immense property held in trust by the officers of the Sailors' Snug Harbor. It was bequeathed by Capt. Thomas Randall to found an asylum for aged and decrepit seamen. The Recorder of the city, and the senior ministers of the Episcopal, Presbyterian, and Dutch Reform Churches are the trustees of the property, and they are empowered to rent it, and devote the proceeds to the charitable objects of the institution.

Mr. Stewart obtained a renewal of his old lease of the property some time ago, and now holds it for a term of twenty-one years. The previous lease contained a covenant that the renewal should be granted upon demand of the tenant and that the rent should be fixed according to the increased value of the property, the appraisers to be chosen by both parties. The appraisers, it appears, made their report to the officers of the Sailors' Snug Harbor, Gov. Leville, Recorder Hackett, and the senior ministers of the churches above named; and, in their generosity, they decided that the rent of this Broadway acre should be only $36,000 annually. Of course, the Prince of Dry Goods was delighted, and he gladly accepted a renewal of his old lease on these terms.

It is said that the next Legislature will appoint a Committee to inquire into the above facts, which were communicated to a reporter of THE SUN, by a responsible public official. The trustees own blocks of valuable houses on Ninth street, Tenth street, Fourth avenue, University place, and in other business streets near Union square, and yet, with the rent of all this vast property at their disposal, they applied about a year ago to the Legislature to remit the taxes upon their real estate on Staten Island.

If you would make a present to a friend give one of Kelley's German Silver Cups—Gaffney's is sole agent.

GEN. BUTLER AND GENERAL TWIGG'S SWORDS.—The Twigg swords, for which Gen. Butler has been sued by a young woman—who is not a niece of Gen. Twigg—were in 1862 sent to the officers of the United States, and are now in the Treasury.—The silver plate as appropriated by Gen. Butler was turned over to the Quartermaster, and sold under Gen. Bank's administration, and the money has gone into the Treasury of the United States. Gen. Butler was applied to to use his influence to have Twigg's swords returned, and was told he would be sued if he did not. He refused to interfere. The suit is brought and published for political effect. The whole story in regard to the swords is told in "Parton's New Orleans," page 467. The swords and box of silver were found under the L of the house. This woman was asserted at the time to be Twigg's mistress.—N. Y. Sun.

On the Tolls farm, which adjoins the Shaw farm, and is situated between Lower Cherry Run and the Allegheny river, a new well was struck on Friday, and during Saturday produced fifty barrels. This well is owned by Mr. R. & J. Painter, and Messrs. John Munnali, John Mawhinny, William Phillips, and John VanAusdale, of Oil City. The four gentlemen last named own the farm in fee, besides working interests in the well. Another well on the same farm, which was struck about two weeks ago, is now yielding about thirty barrels daily, against a daily average during the first week it was pumped, of ten or twelve barrels.

The old established house of Owen Gaffney, is acknowledged by all to be the place to find pure and unadulterated wines and liquors. [nov. 19ml.]

REPORTED FOR THE DAILY RECORD, Afternoon Dispatches.

Tragedy in Pleasant Grove.

HUNTINGTON, PA., Nov. 18.—Between 6 and 7 o'clock last evening, Mr. John Pergalt's dwelling, in Pleasant Grove, near this place, was entered by two robbers, and while the family, consisting of Mr. Pergalt, his wife, and a boy about 12 years of age, named Gardner, were eating supper, shot Pergalt through the head, killing him instantly. The boy Gardner was dispatched in the same way, and then they split the wife's head open with an axe.

They then set the house on fire. When the neighbors reached the scene an appalling spectacle met their gaze. There lay the mangled dead bodies of the victims covered with blood, the walls, besmeared from floor to ceiling, and the brains of the victims oozing from their wounds. The murderers, after perpetrating the crime, covered the dead bodies with bedclothes and then set fire to the house to cover the deed.

Suspicion rested on two men who had been seen loitering about the neighborhood. It was learned that they took the night train from this place for the West. Detectives were at once sent to the station, agents and police all along the Pennsylvania road, and when the train arrived at Altoona, the suspected assassins were arrested and taken back to this place this morning. Their names are Baddering and Bohner. On their persons was found $250 of the booty which prompted the terrible massacre.—Bohner has made a partial confession, and besides from this there is unmistakable evidence of their guilt.

It was generally understood that Mr. Pergalt was possessed of considerable money.

BREMEN, No. 19.—The petroleum merchants here met yesterday. Hamburg, Antwerp, and other cities were also represented. The custom of branding casks with tare and weight in America, and the allowance of two pounds per cask for absorption, was recommended by resolution. It was ordered this resolution be forwarded to leading points of export in the United States.

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 19.—Official returns from the whole State show Nelson's majority to be 20,566. The total vote is only 641,196, showing a falling off of 208,554, compared with that of last year. The Republican decrease is 109,678; Democratic decrease 99,476.
